BOND ISSUE WILL BE PRESENTED TO VOTERS TUESDAY

Ask Approval of $13,500 Bonds for Building Village Hall

Polls will open at 6 a. m. for the voting on the proposed $13,500 bond issue for the new village hall next Tuesday and will remain open throughout the day until 5 p. m., it is announced by Village Clerk Roy L. Murrie. The voting will be held at the village hall. A specimen ballot, identical with those citizens of Antioch will be called upon to mark, is printed in this issue of the News.

Opinions as to whether the bond issue will carry or not are divergent. Passage Favored

According to some, opposition to the measure will be out in front, but proponents of the program point out that the village is in good financial condition; that Antioch has for many years been considering the building of a new hall, and that the bonded indebtedness incurred by reason of the issue will be of little consequence.

They also draw attention to the fact that construction of the hall at this time would mean added employment in the village and increased business. Already Have Site

The village already owns a suitable site for the proposed building—the location now occupied by the Antioch hotel. This property was purchased from a syndicate of local business men, including H. J. Vos, W. A. Rosing, William Hillebrand and Ray Pregrener, on a conditional sale Nov. 25, 1935, to be used at some future time as a village hall site.

The election for the bond issue was held on the succeeding Feb. 18, 1936. It was carried by 141 votes cast in favor of the $10,000 in bonds necessary for the purchase. Only 74 votes were cast against the measure.

May Revise Plans
Tentative plans have been drawn up for the new village hall as a necessary preliminary to asking a Public Works Administration grant to cover 45 percent of the estimated cost of the building.

Revisions and enlargements upon the original plans will be taken under consideration in the near future, and suggestions for some of these changes have already been received from some of the village administration departments.

According to the present tentative lay-out, the hall will be a two-story building, of brick, with offices and municipal departments on the first floor and a large auditorium on the second floor.

The village already has the sum of $3,500 in its building fund. To this would be added the $13,500 of the bond issue and a government grant of approximately $14,000, totaling $31,000. Private gifts might add to this sum, but could not be taken into the estimation of the government grant.

CHILD, 4, STRUCK BY CAR ON HIGHWAY

Everett Wells Suffers Concussion of Brain in Car Accident Sunday

Everett Wells, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wells, Route 173, regained consciousness Tuesday morning for the first time since he was struck by an automobile Sunday when he ran across the highway.

With an older brother, aged six, and his father, the youngster was watching cattle pastured in a field near the highway.

He started across the road just as an automobile driven by J. B. Bennett, 322 Julien street, Belvidere, was approaching. Bennett endeavored to stop the car and avoid him, but the youngster, who apparently had not seen the machine, was struck by the fender. He suffered a cut on the head and possible concussion of the brain, and bruises.

Wells carried the unconscious child to his home and summoned a doctor. When he did not regain consciousness after a six-hour period, he was removed in the evening to St. Therese hospital in Waukegan. His mother has been assisting in caring for him there.

Hold Penny Supper
Mrs. Elmer Wirth was chairman of the committee for a "penny supper" held at the Gurnee Community church Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society.

Antioch Will Observe Fire Prevention Week

Once again, Antioch will join in the observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15. The local fire department will follow its annual custom of inspections, drills and education in fire prevention during the week, James Stearns, veteran fire chief, announces.

Drills will be held at the schools under the supervision of members of Antioch's volunteer fire department. A committee of firemen appointed by Chief Stearns will make inspections of all business and public property to check up on possible fire hazards.

Private property owners are asked to co-operate by checking up themselves on fire hazards in their own homes, as old papers and old clothes in attics, faulty electrical wiring or heating equipment, and piles of rubbish in yards.

AUSTIN TO ADDRESS ROD & GUN CLUB MONDAY NIGHT

Authority on Conservation to Aid Local Men in Program

William A. Austin, of Richmond, formerly with the State Department of Agriculture, and long regarded as an authority on conservation of wild life, will be the principal speaker before the Antioch Rod & Gun Club at a meeting to be held here Monday night at 8 o'clock in Danish Hall.

A four-reel motion picture on "Migratory Birds" will be a part of the program.

Austin, an ardent sportsman, has been interested in conservation for more than a score of years. Recently he acquired a tract of more than 1200 acres located on the Nippersink creek three miles south of Richmond, where he launched one of the most ambitious projects for the preservation and propagation of wild game and fowl ever attempted in northern Illinois.

The place is at once a huge game preserve and gun club, and the skeet field is an important gathering place for prominent sportsmen from Chicago and local communities. In his efforts to promote the project, Austin has been in constant touch with the State Department of Conservation and he has acquired a knowledge of just what steps are possible or desirable in making such a venture a success.

The Antioch Rod and Gun club has set for itself a membership goal of 1,500, in order to secure the greatest possible maximum of support in carrying on its conservation program. As a part of its conservation policy, and taking into consideration the fact that it is the farmers of a region who own the property upon which wild fowl and game live and find refuge, the club extends free membership to all farmers.

"The fact that you are a member of the club does not entitle any member of the club to any hunting privileges on your land, nor does it obligate you in any way," the president, Robert F. Mann, states.

Farmers and others who are interested in the club's conservation program are being especially invited to attend the meeting Monday evening. All persons planning to attend are asked to notify the secretary, Dr. D. N. Deering, so that necessary arrangements for refreshments may be made.

McMillen Will Be "Y" Mat Instructor
"Jim" McMillen of Antioch, who will act as wrestling instructor at the Y. M. C. A. in Waukegan this winter, entered on his duties there Tuesday night.

McMillen is a popular professional wrestler, and is regarded as one of the foremost mat exponents in the heavyweight division. He is being assisted in his duties at the "Y" by "Les" White, promoter of the summer wrestling shows in Lake county. The latter is also an expert wrestler and was a member of the mat team at the University of Illinois.

Both will stress the amateur type of wrestling rather than the professional in their classes, it is announced by Bill Wining, program director at the Y. M. C. A.

Horse Injured
A horse belonging to Jack Thomas, Libertyville, had to be destroyed because of injuries received when it was struck by an automobile of which Mrs. Robert Gustie, Waukegan, was the driver, Sunday on route 63.

LAKE COUNTY TO GREET LYONS IN WAUKEGAN SUN.

Fiery Campaigner to Speak at Republican Day at Fair

Opening fireworks of the fall political campaign in Lake county will be touched off Sunday in Waukegan by Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, before an anticipated crowd of more than 10,000 people.

This was revealed today in a survey at the Lake County Republican headquarters from estimates by committeemen from every section of the county.

Due to the heavy campaign schedule facing Lyons, this will probably be the only address the Libertyville nominee will make in his home county before electors march to the polls on Nov. 8.

The fiery campaigner will feature Republican Day at the Lake County Agricultural Fair and Industrial Exposition Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2, according to John Logan Boyles, chairman of the county Republican campaign committee. Several state candidates have signified their desire to be present.

Due to his activities against New Deal legislation while serving as a state representative from this district, Lyons has been tagged for the Rooseveltian "purge" along with Cong. Ralph E. Church from this district. Outspoken against the New Deal, Lyons has caused considerable stir wherever he has spoken through the state.

Meanwhile activities among the young Republicans in Lake County has shifted into high gear with organization meetings dotting every spot in the county.

HEALTH PROGRAM OF P. T. A. IS STARTED

Survey Will Cover School Children Not Included in "Round-up"

Letters are being sent out to the parents of all Antioch school children from the fourth through the eighth grades, preparatory to a health program the Parent-Teacher association is conducting for children not included in the "summer round-ups" of the past three years.

Since the "round-ups" each year are only for children who will enter school for the first time in the fall, they have covered only the present first three grades at the Antioch school.

It has been felt that a survey for the benefit of the older children might also prove helpful. The health committee of the P. T. A., consisting of Mmes. G. R. Bicknell, Carl Barthel and A. P. Bratrude, and the school office have been cooperating in preparing for the survey.

Parents are being asked to fill out blanks showing what contagious diseases, as measles, and what other ailments their children have suffered.

To Hold Tests

The assembling of these blanks is preparatory to tests which will be conducted on Oct. 13 and 14. Dr. R. D. Williams, the school physician, will conduct the general examinations; Dr. Louis F. Waldman of Waukegan is to have charge of the eye, ear, nose and throat tests, and Miss Elaine Wharton, Lake county school nurse, will assist.

Schick tests and diphtheria inoculations for the children are also included in the P. T. A. health program. No inoculations will be given without the parents' consent, the association announces.

Fox Lake Woman Dies As Result of Accident

Mrs. Delia Daly, 77, of Fox Lake, was fatally injured in a fall last Friday night when she slipped as she attempted to close from the outside the door of a taxicab driven by her son, Edward.

She was standing in the rear of her home when her son started to drive away in the taxicab he operates in Fox Lake. The door sprung open and Mrs. Daly endeavored to slam it shut. She fell to the ground, fracturing her hips.

Her death occurred Sunday at the Lake County General hospital, to which she was taken. An inquest was conducted by Coroner John L. Taylor and her death was held accidental.

NOT A CHANCE

Waukegan Festival to Open Saturday Night

Dozens of Lake County farmers have signed entry blanks to exhibit farm animals and products at the Agricultural fair and Industrial exposition to be held in Waukegan for one week starting Saturday, it is reported by the committee, of which D. H. Minto, Antioch, is a member.

The premium list pamphlet, which was circulated in the mail late last week, discloses that more than $3,000 will be offered in prizes for the winners in a total of 13 exhibition classes. Particular attention is being paid to the draft horse class this year.

A horse show on Thursday and Friday nights of next week will be one of the high points of interest. Another will be crowning of the county queen of the fair. Thirty-two young women, including Mildred Horan, Elizabeth Hughes and Clarice Minto of Antioch, have been nominated.

LIONS HAVE FUN AT GOLF TOURNEY

"A fine time was had by all" at the Chain O' Lakes Country club Tuesday afternoon and evening when the Antioch Lions club staged its first annual golf tournament and dinner—an event that has no other purpose than providing enjoyment for the members.

In the golf events C. K. Anderson was "hot" and copped the first prize cup with easy effort. Ed Vos was second and Elmer Brook and Irving Carey tied for third place. Robert C. Abt, who was considerably off his usual good stroke, managed to merit the consolation prize—a beautiful feather-lined lard pail—in reality a piece of antique china. Vos and Ernest Brook divided honors in the blind bogey event.

Visitors present included Russ Behm, past President of the Libertyville Lions club, and the deputy district governor from Barrington.

New Dam on Fox River Near McHenry Is Urged

A new dam over the Fox River near McHenry is being sought, and a meeting to organize support for the movement was held at Long Lake last week.

The present McHenry dam at the south end of the chain of lakes is inadequate to accommodate the lakes when they are at flood stage, as it is old and obsolete, it was claimed by Carter Jenkins, chief of the state division of waterways, who was a speaker. It was pointed out by other speakers that since many of the smaller private dams further up the river have gone out, and since then the dam at McHenry, which is of the old type and requires manual operation, does not function satisfactorily when flood water hit the region. Plans for a new dam just above the present site have been drawn up and will be presented to the state legislature at its next session.

Zion Prolongs Concerts

Popular demand has led the Zion Civic Recreation board to prolong its concert season. Another concert will be held Saturday, Oct. 8, in Central park.

Jack Newman of Aurora was in Antioch on business Wednesday.

H. S. FORUM TO HOLD ITS INITIAL MEETING OCT. 20

MRS. GEORGE MILLER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Well Known Local Woman Dies in Hospital at Burlington

Mrs. George R. Miller, 39, well known resident of Antioch and formerly of Kenosha, died at the hospital in Burlington Friday, Sept. 23, after a brief illness.

She was born in Kenosha June 16, 1899, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meyer. She attended the Kenosha public schools and made her home in that city until 15 years ago, when she moved to Antioch.

On Sept. 21, 1917, she was united in marriage with George Miller, who survives her. She is also survived by two sons, Harvey and Charles, and three daughters, Dorothy, Jeanette and Shirley; by her mother, Mrs. Carl Meyer, and four sisters, Mrs. Martha Conery, Mrs. Alma Schlatter, Mrs. Laura Bloom and Mrs. Rose Feuker.

Funeral services were held in the Strang Funeral home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in the family plot in Liberty Corners cemetery.

Speaks in Waukegan
"Pro Football and Wrestling" is the subject upon which "Jim" McMillen of Antioch spoke at a meeting of the Waukegan chapter of the American Business club Tuesday evening.

N. S. BURNETTE, PIONEER ANTIOCH CITIZEN, PASSES

Resident of This Town 65 Years Dies in Waukegan Hospital, Aged 85

Nicholas Smith Burnette, 85, who was one of the pioneer residents of Antioch, died Wednesday morning at 6:30 o'clock in the Lake county General hospital, Waukegan, after a lingering illness.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Strang's Funeral home. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Burnette was born on March 2, 1853, in East Dubuque, Ill., as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Burnette, were traveling from Waukegan to Iowa in a wagon drawn by a yoke of oxen. They stopped at East Dubuque before crossing the river, and their son was born there.

Nicholas Burnette spent his early life on a farm just outside of Waukegan, on North Lewis avenue. He came to Antioch at the age of about 20 or 21, while the town was still in its youthful days and consisted of only a few houses and two or three stores. Were "Oldest Married Couple"

In May, 1874, he was united in marriage at Millburn with Miss Rebecca A. Richardson, daughter of Thomas Richardson, an early postmaster of Antioch. Mr. Burnette and his wife, who survives him, were one of the oldest married couples in Lake county, having celebrated their sixty-fourth anniversary last spring.

A large part of Mr. Burnette's career was spent as a painter and cement block maker, and many buildings of this vicinity show evidences of his skill in these lines. He had been retired for some years before his death.

Surviving him, besides his wife, are two sons, Thomas, of Antioch, and Lee, of Lake Villa; two daughters, Mrs. Richard Slyster, Libertyville, and Mrs. Ada Armstrong, Chicago Heights, and several grandchildren.

CHICAGO WOMAN DROWNS AT DAM

Mrs. Lucille Anderson, 30, Loses Life in Boating Mishap at Wilmot

Mrs. Lucille Anderson, 30, Chicago, was drowned late Sunday afternoon when the boat in which she was riding with four other Chicago residents capsized in the Fox river, at the base of the Wilmot dam.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Emerson, who clung to the boat as it was whirled downstream, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Adams, who were jarred loose from it, were saved by Clifford Rasmussen, one-armed Wilmot resident who has figured in two other rescues at the dam, and George Dinsmore, of Kenosha.

Mrs. Anderson was swept into the whirlpool basin at the center of the dam, where she remained at the surface for a few moments before being pulled down to her death.

Mrs. Anderson had been spending the week vacationing at Grass Lake with her husband. She and the two couples had been touring the river below the dam in a motor boat and were about to moor it at the steps recently built at the location of the old mill race when the current swept the craft away from the shore and into the whirlpool eddies, where it upset.

Rasmussen saw the accident and commandeered a fisherman's boat to effect the rescue of Mrs. Adams, whom he managed to grasp by the hair and pull to safety. Adams was swept away from him beneath the surface of the water and was rescued some distance downstream by Dinsmore.

The Kenosha coast guard was notified and started a search for Mrs. Anderson's body, which had continued fruitlessly up to last evening. The work has been hindered by debris which has collected in the basin below the dam and has caused frequent damage to equipment.

This was the second drowning tragedy at the dam within a period of a few weeks. August Jacobsen, 29, of Chicago, lost his life there August 21. His two companions were saved by Rasmussen.

Shall We Have a Village Hall?

Next Tuesday, Oct. 4, Antioch voters will be called upon to approve the issuing of $13,500 worth of bonds for a new village hall.

While it has been felt for many years that the village should have a new administrative hall, the project has been somewhat like Mark Twain's comment on the weather—"Everybody talks about it, but nobody does anything about it."

This is wrong in one respect, however, for some things have been done about it. The city council several years ago purchased the location on which the Antioch hotel stands—with a view to the fact that Antioch would some day, sooner or later, be planning to build a new hall, and would thus have a favorable site available.

The possibility of obtaining a PWA grant to be applied on the fund for the village hall has helped to strengthen the opinion of many persons that the present time would be a good one in which to start building it.

Besides the bond issue of $13,500—if it is passed by the voters—the village already has $3,500 in its building fund. To this sum of $17,000 could be added a federal grant of 45 per cent, or about $14,000, making a total of $31,000.

A set of tentative plans and blueprints has already been drawn up—this being a necessary condition of obtaining government assistance.

While, it has been pointed out, these plans do not make what might be considered by many residents an adequate provision for the future it is explained that necessary enlargements and revisions can still be made in them, and undoubtedly will be.

Voters are being urged to keep in mind the fact that money spent for the future should be money invested wisely, and that the providing of a hall which would meet the needs of the community adequately for many years to come should be the goal in undertaking a project of this sort.

The "community hall" possibilities of the proposed new two-story structure, as well as the advantages of a centralized village administration, including the police and fire departments, are things the voters are being especially advised to keep in mind.

Why Not Ask the Patient?

The other day a prominent industrial leader, speaking on business conditions, said: "We have tried all kinds of experiments. Why not trade experiments for experience?" And that, to our mind, sounds like pretty good common sense.

After all, in all other phases of our life we call on those men who should know the most about the subject in hand. If we are ill, we call the doctor who has studied medicine and knows, more than anyone else, how to diagnose the symptoms. If we want legal advice, we go to a lawyer. It seems to us that this matter of the present depression the man in the best position to know what is the trouble and to prescribe remedies for our national illness is the man who has spent his life in business and who knows what it needed for good business.

That seems to us like an elementary idea scarcely necessary to repeat, but certainly many theorists in the last few years have failed altogether to pay much attention to it.

As this speaker put it, "In a confusion of voices, industry's voice is the only one which has not been heard."

We are now entering upon the ninth month of a discouraging depression that follows all too closely on the heels of its predecessor. Isn't it time to stop looking for a magic cure-all for our economic ills and consult those men, who by experience, are best fitted to lead us to recovery?

Three Years of Failure

For almost three years now the relations of the business man with his employees have been dictated by a National Labor Relations Board. This board was set up supposedly to help better those relations; to reduce the number of strikes and arbitrate any grievances. The record of the board since its establishment in July 1935 shows a result to the contrary.

Many members of Congress are already on record as saying that drastic revision of the labor act will have to be accomplished if we are to end this three-year era of violence and bickering fostered by headstrong labor agitators.

Unfortunately the act could not be amended at this session of Congress, but it is to be hoped that the next Congress will be sufficiently strong and willing to balance the currently lop-sided law. It is not an overstatement of fact to say that balance will aid materially in starting business recovery, for as long as business is managed by a one-sided statute it cannot move forward.

Hitler says that Germany is now prepared to put up a real fight. Maybe he has signed up "Pop-eye the Sailor."

More Abundant Life—For New Dealers

Jerome N. Frank, who now receives $10,000 a year as a Security and Exchange Commissioner in the New Deal, a few days ago was awarded a fee of $16,000 by the Interstate Commerce Commission for special legal services which he performed for the bankrupt Missouri Pacific Railroad between July 19, 1937 and December 22, 1937, when he was named to his present office.

Mr. Frank protested. He said it was not enough. He asked the government agency to allow him $25,821 additional or a total fee of $41,821 for five months part time work. Nice work if you can get it!

Things Worth Remembering

London Answers Magazine calls attention to the following simple things worth remembering: That—Common salt makes an excellent tooth-paste. A small ball of butter rolled in sugar will slacken a cough. The juice of boiled turnips will cure constipation. A cloth soaked in vinegar relieves a severe headache. Cold cream smeared on the eyelids is as effective as eye-shadow, without giving that "hard" look.

Lesson for October 2

THE ONE TRUE GOD

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:2, 3; Isaiah 45:22; Mark 12:29-34; 1 Corinthians 8:4-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.—Deuteronomy 6:5.

Today we begin a series of studies which should be of unusual value, a consideration of the Ten Commandments in the light of the teachings of Jesus and related New Testament passages. It is appropriate to point out that, far from being outmoded, the Ten Commandments are really the basis of all moral law. They need a diligent re-study and re-emphasis in our day of disregard of moral standards. As interpreted by the Lord Jesus and applied to our daily living, the truth of these commandments should be brought home to every boy and girl and man and woman in our Bible schools.

The lessons begin at the right point, for the first commandment properly deals with our conception of God. What a man thinks about God determines his entire outlook on life. We begin right when we declare that there is but one God.

I. The Truth Stated—There Is One True God (Exod. 20:2, 3).

Jehovah means "I will be what I will be," or "I am that I am," (Exod. 3:14). His very name declares God to be the self-existent, eternal one. How infinitely great is then the use of the word "thy" in verse 21 He—the great I AM—is my God.

There are many things concerning which we do not speak dogmatically. There are even Christian doctrines about which spiritual and earnest men may honestly differ, but regarding God we say with absolute assurance and complete exclusiveness—there is but one true God. If He is what He claims to be, if God is not to be declared to be a liar, then it is beyond the realm of possibility that there could be any other God. Hear it, ye men and women of America who in an enlightened land and age bow down in heathenish worship "before the god of gold, the god of success, the god of fame, the goddess of pleasure, the god of licentiousness." The one true God says, "I am Jehovah . . . thou shalt have no other gods before me."

II. The Truth Explained.

1. God is our Deliverer (Exod. 20:2). He who brought Israel out of the bondage of Egypt is the one, and the only one who can deliver men from the bondage of sin. If you think that a sinner is not in bondage read Titus 3:3 and Romans 6:16 and then read the verses following in both passages, and not only see but follow the way of deliverance.

2. God is our Saviour (Isa. 45:22). Again note that "there is none else" who can save. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

It was this verse that led one of the world's greatest preachers, Charles Haddon Spurgeon, to accept Christ as his Saviour when he was just a humble lad. Perhaps some boy or girl who reads these lines may do likewise, and become a great instrument in God's hand. Teacher, perhaps the Spurgeon of the next generation will be in your class today. Win him for Christ!

3. God is Love (Mark 12:28-34). In I John 4:8 the truth is stated in all its glorious simplicity. "God is love." He not only loves us, and calls on us to love Him, and enables us to love both Him and our neighbors, but He "is love." Love is of the very essence of God's nature. He is the source of all true love. He is love.

It was for this reason that Jesus replied to the question of the scribe as He did, directing the whole life of man into love toward God and his fellow man.

It is worthy of careful note and emphasis in our teaching that the recognition and appreciation of this truth on the part of the scribe brought him near to the Kingdom of God, but not into it. He was "not far from," but he was not in it. It is terrifying to think how close men may come to entering without doing so. Reader, have you entered into eternal life through Jesus Christ?

4. God is our Father (I Cor. 8:4-6). Paul is speaking of the eating of meat offered to idols, and points out that such false gods are really nothing. This is true not only of idols of wood and stone, but of supernatural beings, demons worshipped by primitive peoples. There are such spirit beings, active even in our day in such cults as spiritism, but they are not divine, not true gods (v. 5).

The true God is a Father, yes "the Father," of whom are all things and we in Him (v. 6). As there is but one God, there is also but one Lord, Jesus Christ through whom the one God has wrought all things, and through whom we also come to God. If we have Christ we have all; if we have not Him we have nothing. Is He your Saviour?

Mrs. Philip Anderson Drowned

Sunday afternoon at four o'clock five people, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, and Mrs. Philip Anderson, all of Chicago, who were vacationing at Grass Lake, came up to Wilmot, in a motor boat. They tried to land at the steps on the west side of the dam, cutting off their motor, but were caught by the undertow and swept under the dam, which is very high.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson, expert swimmers, held on to the boat and were swept down to a sand bar where they were rescued. Mrs. Adams was rescued by Clifford Rasmussen, who had set out in a boat to help as soon as the launch overturned. He saw her floating a few feet from his boat and caught her by the hair and shoulders. Mr. Adams was swept under his boat and was picked up by George Dinsmore, of Kenosha, who was in a boat a few rods downstream. Mrs. Anderson was last seen in the center of the dam where the current had carried her.

Rescue operations were started at once. Capt. Deegan of the Kenosha Coast Guard and assistants worked until dark dragging below the dam. The Red Cross rescuing outfit with the Boy Scouts worked until 1:30 A. M. before they stopped. Both outfits were dragging the river all day Monday without any success.

Mrs. Anderson was a young woman of thirty years of age and had been married two years.

This is the second drowning in a month at the dam, when Mr. Jacobsen of Chicago, one of three men swept over the dam in a motor boat that had been tied too near the dam, was drowned there. The river has been in flood stage four times this summer, a condition the oldest settlers do not recall, and vacationists do not seem to realize the danger and power of the current sweeping over the dam—until it is too late.

Battalion of American Deserters

The "El Battalion de San Patri- cio" or "San Patrio Battalion," also known as the "Legion of Strangers" and the "Foreign Legion," was captured in the battle of Churubusco about August 18-20, 1847, while being led by one John Reilly, a former private of Company K, Fifth United States Infantry, from which he had deserted. Three hundred and eighty prisoners were captured at said battle, 72 of whom were found to be deserters from the United States army, who had taken up arms against the United States to enlist in the Mexican service. All were tried and sentenced by a general court-martial. Reilly was sentenced to be hanged, but the sentence was commuted to 50 lashes with a rawhide whip well laid on the back, branding on the cheek with the letter "D," close imprisonment as long as the army remained in Mexico, and then drumming out of the service.

Executions Before Dawn

Custom of Sunworshippers

It is impossible to say just how dawn became the favorite time for executions. The custom of putting condemned persons to death early in the morning has been prevalent since ancient times, observes an authority in the Indianapolis News. One writer suggests that it may be a survival of the practices of prehistoric sun worshippers who offered human sacrifices to the sun as it rose in the East. Another thinks the practice is of military origin; persons condemned in the military are generally shot as early as possible on the specified day, that is, just as soon as it is light enough for the firing squad to see to take aim.

There are several reasons for following the custom. The day on which an execution is to take place is set by the court; the exact hour is left to the discretion of prison officials. Usually the unpleasant task is performed when it will interfere least with the routine of prison life, which is as early as possible in the day, when the prisoners are in their cells and most of them are asleep.

An execution has an unfavorable influence on all the inmates of a prison and, if the condemned prisoners were electrocuted or hanged during the day or early in the night, their fellow prisoners might be incited to riot. Where executions are public the number of spectators is reduced by having them at dawn.

Whalebone Not Bone; It

Grows on Roof of Mouth

Whalebone is not bone and it has none of the properties of bone. The term is a popular name for an elastic, fibrous substance that grows on the roof of the mouth of right and certain other species of whales.

Whalebone, more properly called baleen, consists of a series of thin parallel plates on the palate and is a horny exaggeration of the ridges found on the roof of the mouth of most mammals. Baleen plates have been known to reach a length of 15 feet, although they seldom exceed 12 feet, even in the largest whalebone whales, states a writer in the Indianapolis News. They take the place of teeth and their function is to strain the water that the creature takes up in large mouthfuls.

Because of its lightness, flexibility and toughness, whalebone is used in corsets, stays and other articles for stiffening women's dresses. Whalers prepare the product for the market by boiling it until it is quite soft and then cutting it into strips of the required size. Formerly the whale was often confused with the walrus and other sea animals and the expression "white as whale's bone" originally meant white as walrus skin.

Used Animal Skin Bottles

The first bottles were of animal skins which were sewed up. One leg was left open as the bottle's neck. This was closed with a plug or tied with string. Such containers are used for wine in southern Europe, for water in China. Thousands of years ago, says the Washington Post, the Egyptians made glass bottles. They also had them of stone, ivory, bone, porcelain, bronze, gold and pottery. Bottles are made by blowing glass into molds of the desired shapes. Bottoms and necks are finished last. Done chiefly by machinery in the United States, this is an honored hand art in Europe, the secrets of which are guarded jealously by families of craftsmen.

Pounds of Flesh

Approximately one sixth of the body weight represents stored fat in the normal individual. If he weighs 154 pounds, then about 26 pounds consists of fat, having a potential combustion value of 80,000 calories, or enough for the total energy output for about one month.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "I will extol thee, my God, O king; and I will bless thy name for ever and ever. All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power; To make known to the sons of men his mighty acts, and the glorious majesty of his kingdom. Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations" (Psalms 145:1, 10-13).

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Horton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pierce spent the week-end at Lake Poygan, Wis., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Pierce.

Ralph C. James and family, Louise Gilbert of Chicago and the Fred Olson family of Rockford, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. James here Sunday to celebrate the birthday of Ralph James.

"Orchard street," says J. C. James, "boasts the largest and most select lot of dahlias of any street in the village." There are now at the home of Mrs. Ida Osmond on this street 350 blossoms, while at the James home there are 250 blooms and some of the plants are 7 feet 9 inches in height, and 20 plants are over 7 feet tall.

RECEIVE "LEGION DAY" INVITATION

Antioch Post Is Asked to Take Part in Program Saturday at Urbana

Members of the Antioch American Legion post and auxiliary are hoping to have a representation present at the "Legion Day" program to be sponsored by the University of Illinois this Saturday at Champaign-Urbana.

Co-guests with the Legion organizations will be members of the Reserve Officers' association, Disabled American War veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and their adult auxiliaries.

A football game with De Paul university in the afternoon, to which members of these organizations and their auxiliaries will be admitted free of charge upon presentation of 1938 or 1939 membership cards, will be one of the outstanding features on the day's program. The free admission does not apply to junior auxiliaries, the university states, and there will be no reserve seats. Members must have their cards with them in order to be admitted, it is emphasized.

The day will open at 10:30 a. m. with a military parade by the University of Illinois R. O. T. C. General Hugh Drum of the Sixth corps area will speak. There will be no special luncheon.

From 1 to 2 p. m. the Senior Legion drum corps will entertain at the stadium, and at 2 o'clock there is to be a parade of Legion colors. The University of Illinois band parade and flag-raising at 2:15 o'clock will precede the opening of the game at 2:30 o'clock. Between halves, the past state champion, Father Lawler, will conduct a memorial ceremony.

Each Legion post attending is asked to bring its colors and take part in the "mass colors" ceremony. The University is presenting a beautiful streamer to all posts taking part in this event.

Des Plaines City Council Puts Ban on Trailer Homes

The Des Plaines city council has passed an ordinance providing that no automobile trailer shall be used for sleeping quarters within the city longer than 24 hours.

The ordinance was evoked by reports to the aldermen that people in the city are making a practice of living in the trailers as their homes.

It was felt that sanitary provisions in these cases were not sufficient and that the practice constituted a health hazard.

Sister of Libertyville Man Dies at Long Grove

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Gasser, Long Grove, were held at the residence Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and at the Long Grove Evangelical church at 2 o'clock, with interment in the Long Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Gasser, who was born in 1857 and spent her entire life in the vicinity, was a sister of Edward Giss, Libertyville.

She is also survived by three other brothers, Emil Giss, Edinburgh, Tex., Charles Giss, Manteno, and Jacob Giss, Chicago. She was preceded in death by her husband and three sisters.

St. Helena Discovery of A Portuguese Navigator

St. Helena was discovered by the Portuguese navigator Joao de Nova on a voyage home from India. He sighted it on the feast day of St. Helena, mother of the Roman Emperor Constantine, and named it for her. That was in May, 1502. The Portuguese made no effort at colonization. Yet there was one involuntary Portuguese colonist, a sort of Robinson Crusoe, relates Frederick J. Haskin in the Washington Star.

A Portuguese soldier, Fernando Lopez, deserted at Goa, renounced Christianity and joined the Paynim. He was surrendered to the Portuguese by the Indians on condition that he be spared. Albuquerque did spare his life, but he did not think the terms of the surrender would be violated if he cut off his right hand, his ears, his nose, and the thumb of his left hand. Then he took him aboard for the homeward voyage and marooned him on St. Helena, which was totally uninhabited. This was in 1513.

Lopez dug himself a cave with what remained of his left hand and managed to live. The tale became known and ships stopping for water and wood for their galleys would leave food for him. He never appeared himself because, having been a proud soldier, he was ashamed of his deformities. When ships returned they found the food had always been taken and they continued the practice. At length he showed himself in his old age and asked to be taken home so he could make pilgrimage to Rome and be forgiven his sins by the Holy Father himself. By then he had become a figure of note, and his request was granted. But, shrunken, he elected to return, alone, to his island.

Request Improvement On Rural Fire Trucks

Illinois Inspection Bureau Makes Recommendations for Equipment

Antioch firemen reporting from the county meeting held in Gurnee brought the announcement to the local department Tuesday night that the Illinois Inspection Bureau of Chicago has made request that improvement be made in all fire equipment used in rural districts. The local district, acting through the Antioch Volunteer department, is complying with the request, and it is expected that the local department not only will be placed on the accredited list by the Bureau, but that the move will also result in substantial reductions in insurance rates.

To Elect Officers

The firemen at their regular meeting here Tuesday night discussed the closing of business for the year before turning over the books to the auditing committee, which is to report at the first meeting in October when the election of officers will be held.

Antioch has been booked as the place of holding the meeting of the county firemen's association next June 28. Chief Stearns, Lieut. John Horan and Truck Engineer Einar Petersen were appointed to consider the purchase of new uniforms for active firemen for 1939. The last purchase of uniforms was in 1932.

Chief Stearns and Edgar Simonsen were voted as delegates to attend the State Firemen's Convention at Peoria in October. Einar Petersen and Richard Allner are the alternates.

Inspections and demonstrations will be held here during Fire Prevention week, October 9 to 15, according to plans of the firemen.

On the committee are Paul Chase, chairman; Vernon Rogers, Michael Zeien and Charles Zapp.

The Community club is an outgrowth of the Channel Lake P. T. A., which is incorporated in it.

Grayslake Will Vote on High School Plan Oct. 1

The proposed creation of a high school district for pupils from the northern part of Fremont township and the southern part of Lake Villa township will be voted upon by Grayslake citizens Oct. 1.

An application has already been filed for a government grant to build a high school at Grayslake, but PWA authorities have stated that it will be necessary to have a legally constituted high school district and high school board first.

There are 140 students from the area at present attending schools in Antioch, Libertyville, Grant and Warren.

Pigs Have Their Day in Waukegan J. P. Court

"Pigs are Pigs," said Elbert Hubbard, and the two little ones belonging to Mrs. Pauline Belski, Waukegan, are all of that, a jury of six men decided in Michael Haney's justice of the peace court there last Saturday.

It seems the neighbors had been complaining. They said the little pigs were a nuisance and also didn't smell so good. The city council could find no law that Mrs. Belski was breaking by keeping her pigs. The neighbors set out to look for one, and succeeded. A jury of six men held that the neighbors were justified in their complaints. They fined Mrs. Belski $1.

Ray Zack, attorney for Mrs. Belski, said the case might be appealed to circuit court. After all, "Pigs are pigs"—and they have their rights, too.

Gold Wasn't "Where They Found It"—Only Gilded

"Gold is where you find it," the persons who took the jar of gilded nuggets from the lobby of the Times theatre in Waukegan must have thought.

The jar was part of a contest display arranged by Manager H. C. Ryan in connection with the showing of the movie, "Gold Is Where You Find It." Contestants were supposed to guess the number of "nuggets" it contained.

Somebody must have found out the right number all right—but Manager Ryan decided to double-cross them by going down to the lake for a new jar of pebbles and putting in a couple of hours gilding them.

ATTENTION: Parents

The power of the eyes for adapting themselves to secure acute vision, notwithstanding their defects, is without doubt another reason to explain the large proportion of people who have neglected their eyes. If the eyes were assertive organs like the teeth, it is probable that there would be far less eye trouble. When anything happens to our teeth we are not left long in doubt and we hurry immediately to the dentist. The eyes, unlike the teeth, do not always directly protest but struggle to perform the task set for them. However, every minute that defective eyes are open they are working under a tremendous strain and drawing on the reserve energy of the body. The result is a reduction in our physical resources, accompanied often by headaches, insomnia, and other nervous ills.

USE PROVED SIRE ON POULTRY FARM

Three Definite Points Are Necessary to Qualify.

By Dr. W. C. Thompson, Poultry Husbandman, Rutgers University, N.J. Service.

Experience proves that the use of proved sires is just as sound and economical for the poultry industry as it is for the dairy and other live stock industries in which this practice has been followed for years.

The poultry sire should pass inspection on three definite points to qualify as proved. First, his family tree should be known for at least three generations and should contain as many individuals as possible whose egg production, growth, and general qualifications are worthy of perpetuation. Although a pedigree alone does not guarantee good results, it increases possibilities of obtaining them.

Secondly, the proved sire, as an individual, must possess the type of characteristics which it is desired that he pass on to his progeny.

In the third place, the proved sire must have demonstrated his capacities to produce fertile and hatchable eggs and strong, viable chicks.

During the past season many poultry men have been using male birds with good pedigrees. Those birds will have been found to go through the breeding season in a strong, healthy condition. Hatching records will have given considerable valuable information which may be accepted as at least the first steps in progeny testing. It is a mistake for poultry breeders to sell off such valuable sires simply because they may consider it difficult to keep them over the summer season on the poultry plant. Too often it is a practice to use only cockerels or first year breeders each spring. From such birds, information on only the first two points is possible.

To be a proved sire, a bird must have a record of production. Keep over promising male birds until next January. Their daughters will have shown what they can do in egg yields during the coming fall and winter. By the opening of the next breeder season, sufficient data for progeny testing will be at hand to enable the poultry man to select the exact birds to be saved.

Fly Nets, Repellents

Are Urged for Horses

Every effort should be directed toward preventing horses from being bitten by insects, since it is believed that blood sucking insects are responsible for the transmission of sleeping sickness in horses, says A. W. Uren of the Missouri college of agriculture.

The incidence of this disease at army posts, in states where the disease was quite prevalent, was only one-tenth as much in the horse population on the farms adjacent to the post. This low incidence is thought to be due to the fact that the army horses were kept in screened stables. It is recommended, therefore, that horses be kept in stables as much as possible during an epidemic, particularly if the stables are screened.

It is also recommended that fly nets be used when horses are worked, and that the horses be sprayed often with fly repellents. An effective and rather inexpensive fly spray can be made by extracting 1 pound of pyrethrum flowers in 1 gallon of kerosene for 48 hours, then decant or siphon off the clear liquid. If two parts of the extract are then thoroughly mixed with one part of water containing 3 to 5 per cent of soft soap, the mixture is then ready for use.

MAN SHOTS SELF FOR LOVE OF NURSE

Wanted to Be Near Her So He Staged Fake Hold-up.

NEW YORK.—How a Virginia man shot himself so he could be near a hospital nurse who had attended him previously was revealed here by a federal bureau of investigation expert.

E. P. Coffey, F. B. I. technical laboratory chief, in a speech before the Rotary club, revealed the incident, which occurred in February but was never made known to the public.

Withholding the man's name and the city where it occurred because the case was never prosecuted, Mr. Coffey told how the man had become enamored of the nurse while in the hospital a short time before. Evidently unable to get a "date" with her and knowing of no other way to be near her, the man staged a fake hold-up, shooting himself in the shoulder with his own pistol.

One evening last February police in the Virginia city received word a local resident had been robbed and shot. Investigating officers found the victim lying on a bed in his room. He told officers he had been out walking near his home when a masked bandit held him up, took his pocketbook and then, for some unexplained reason, shot him in the shoulder.

The man said he ran to his house, secured a gun and fired in the general direction of the fleeing bandit. However, the man's story was shaken when investigation resulted in the location of his pocketbook, wedged in between a drain pipe in the side of his house. But the finding of the pocketbook did not cause him to change his account of the "hold-up."

Officers nevertheless suspected a hoax and sent the revolver and the bullet which entered his shoulder to the F. B. I. laboratory, where examination revealed the slug had come from his own gun. Faced with this evidence, the man admitted he had shot himself and said he wanted to be near his love, the nurse who had looked after him when in the hospital a few weeks previously.

It was not revealed whether he ever won over her affections.

Curious Bear Comes to Sad End in Yellowstone Park

YELLOWSTONE PARK, WYO.—It is said that curiosity once killed a cat, but there is no doubt but that curiosity killed a Yellowstone National park grizzly bear recently.

District Ranger Leon Evans of Old Faithful, upon hearing a terrific commotion in the woods near the museum, dashed out of the building and found a five-pound screw top coffee can firmly fitted over the grizzly's head.

Ranger Evans pondered whether he could find any volunteers to remove the offending can and allow the silvertip to find his way out of the vicinity. But when he saw the furious thrashing and milling, he thought better of such foolhardiness and ran for his gun.

Usually a grizzly must be shot between the eyes, but when he couldn't see the eyes Evans had to shoot for the heart. The first shot did no good, the grizzly reeled crazily and started in Evans' direction.

Evans' immediate thought was to leave the vicinity as soon as possible but he took courage, aimed his high-powered rifle, and his shot was true.

When the bear was hauled out for burial in the forest, it was still wearing its coffee can helmet. It was on too tightly to be removed and nobody particularly wanted it anyway.

Escaped Fox Perfectly Willing to Be Captured

GRAVEDFORD, ORE.—This freedom business isn't all that it might be for domestically raised animals, judging from the antics of a silver fox raised on the A. B. Crawford farm.

The fox escaped from its pen last January, and recently appeared at a ranch 20 miles from the Crawford farm in a near-starved condition. It submitted tamely to capture, and was returned to its owners.

Gross Statue Erected by The American Physicians

Dr. Samuel D. Gross, pioneer, surgeon, teacher and author, was held in such esteem by members of his profession that when a statue was erected in the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution the pedestal was inscribed:

"American physicians erected this statue to commemorate the great deeds of a man who made such an impress upon American surgery that it has served to dignify American medicine."

The man who won such distinction began his study of medicine at the age of 17 and continued active until he died at the age of 70.

Born July 8, 1805, in Pennsylvania, writes Leslie Martley in the Washington Star, Samuel D. Gross, as a farm boy, studied the fauna and flora of that section, and by close observance learned the calls of birds and the habits of animals, and he later claimed that his woodlore was of great benefit to him throughout his medical career.

After he began the study of medicine he sought the best education he could obtain, and was to become one of the greatest of American surgeons. He also made valuable contributions to medical science and wrote a number of books.

One of the founders of the American Medical association, Doctor Gross was also the founder of the American Surgical Society and other groups, and received several degrees in recognition of his outstanding achievements.

Game of Chess Has Been Played Since 3300 B. C.

There must be something remarkable about a game that survives for centuries. Chess is played in international tournaments and in homes and in tea-shops, but what nobody seems at all clear about is: who started it?

The Chinese say that they can trace chess in their own country for more than 20 centuries, but we know it is older than that, asserts a writer in London Answers magazine, for excavations at the Egyptian pyramids brought to light a drawing showing chess being played during the sixth Egyptian dynasty, which is about 3300 B. C.

However, the game was brought to England by the Crusaders about the year A. D. 1095.

The Brahmins of India are believed to be the inventors of playing cards, and to have sent them east and west, to Arabia, Persia and China.

The first mention of them in England occurs about 1278, when Queen Eleanor, wife of Edward I, is supposed to have imported them.

Importance of First Job

The only important thing about a first job is that it be a chance to do honest work. Don't wait till what you're fitted for offers. Don't bother about the pay. Above all, don't worry over the effect of the job on your social position. Get a leg to stand on. Get a place to stand the leg. The only standpoint from which you can get a view of a job that suits you is a job that you suit. Finally, don't listen to good-luck stories.

NURSE POISONS 11, IS CONVICTED IN REMARKABLE TRIAL

Sensational Case Arouses Mob Spirit to Cries of 'Kill Her.'

LIEGE, BELGIUM.—Screams of "Kill her" went up from a crowd outside the court house when the jury, which heard testimony for a month, filed in to announce its verdict after five hours of deliberation.

In the court waiting to hear the verdict sat Marie Petitjean Becker, fifty-nine years old, a nurse, the widow of Charles Becker.

The widow Becker of Liege was accused of 11 poison murders and five murder attempts. The prosecution had charged that Mrs. Becker made friends with elderly persons in public parks and then poisoned them after stealing or borrowing their money.

Starts With Husband.

The trail of murders laid to the woman started back in 1932 when Charles Becker, her husband, developed a fatal stomach-ache. The widow said his death was from "indigestion."

Her husband's tenant, Marie Doupage, was the next victim, dying mysteriously a year after Becker. Then came the death of L. Beyer, to whom the widow had become betrothed.

A year later a woman acquaintance died under mysterious circumstances. There followed the deaths of seven women—mostly wealthy widows.

Besides the deaths for which she was convicted, police charged her with attempting to kill other persons.

For the first two weeks of the trial Mme. Becker wore gay green and red dresses, and spoke alertly and defiantly to the court when questioned. Later her spirit began to lag, and with it the color of her garb.

Not Crazy, Just Mean.

Tension during the trial was so great that the judge ordered a day's recess at one time so that Mme. Becker, the attorneys, the jurors and the court officials might rest their bodies and mind in what he called a search for truth into an extraordinary case.

More than half a hundred witnesses were called. Both prosecution and defense accepted the testimony of two physicians who examined Mme. Becker during the months she was in St. Leopold prison awaiting trial.

Dr. De Block, a specialist in mental diseases, assured the court:

"Mme. Becker is not mad, or even unbalanced. Wickedness, the desire to commit crimes of this nature, is not the result of mental instability—it is deliberate."

At last, however, the weary proceedings dragged to their conclusion and the widow of Liege heard the verdict. It was:

"Guilty of seven murders."

Because of the horror of the case, the court sentenced the killer nurse to death. As a matter of fact, capital punishment no longer prevails in Belgium and everybody knew the sentence would be commuted to life imprisonment.

Nevertheless, the widow lost the reserve which had characterized her behavior during the tedious hearings and wept hysterically.

Breaks Pledge to His

Rescuer and Dies of Gas

NEW YORK.—A few hours after a neighbor halted his first attempt at suicide and apparently persuaded him not to take his life, Martin Anderson, forty-three years old, committed suicide by gas in the kitchen of his home.

Earlier in the day he had turned on two jets in the gas range, but William Hepburn, forty-three, who lives next door, came to visit Anderson and rescued him before he was overcome. Hepburn argued with Anderson for about 30 minutes, police said, and finally extracted from Anderson a promise that he would not make a second attempt at suicide.

In the afternoon Hepburn called back at the apartment and found the door locked. As he ran to the rear of the house an explosion shattered all windows in the apartment and flying glass slashed his head, face and hands. Anderson was found dead on the kitchen floor. Hepburn was treated by an ambulance physician and sent home.

Postman Away on Leave,

Dog Dies of Broken Heart

CLEVELAND.—Eight months ago a little mongrel dog known as Blackie made friends with Postman Frank Vacha. Blackie accompanied him on his route every day thereafter.

Recently Vacha went on a 10-day vacation. Returning, he learned that his faithful friend, owned by Alex Neidel, a dry cleaner on his route, had waited nine days, perplexed and upset when the postman did not show up. The dog refused food all the while, and died the day before Vacha returned.

Some said the dog died because he slept at his station by the mail box in all kinds of weather rather than in his kennel, and some believed Blackie was a victim of self-inflicted starvation. But Neidel said everyone who knows the devotion of a mongrel knows Blackie died of a broken heart.

WHITEWASH GIVES GOOD PROTECTION

Coating Is Economical, Has Disinfectant Qualities.

By W. A. Foster, Associate Chief in Rural Architecture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

Properly mixed and applied, whitewash provides economical protection to farm buildings. In addition to having certain disinfectant qualities, whitewash is especially useful for the interior of barns or other outbuildings where it aids in providing better light.

Whitewash gives best results when it is applied in clear, dry weather on a surface which has been well cleaned and dampened so that the fresh wash will dry gradually. When applied to a bone-dry surface, whitewash will usually chalk and rub off easily.

Two formulas for whitewash are: For new masonry work which has never had a whitewash application, 2½ gallons of mason's lime, hydrated in paper bags; 2 gallons of cement, Atlas white; 2½ pounds of salsoda; 2 pounds of salt and 3 pounds of powdered alum. This will give a pure white. A grayish white may be had by using regular Portland cement in place of Atlas.

The materials are mixed dry, and soft, cold water is added with the mixture stirred well until 5 gallons of paste is made. It is well to stir the mixture constantly and apply it at once with a brush or spray.

To assure a perfect bond on an old wall, it is best to clean off loose particles of old whitewash coating with a wire brush. The formula for an old wall is 2½ gallons of finishing lime or mason's lime; 2½ gallons of cement; 1 pound of salsoda; 1 pound of salt and 2 pounds of powdered alum. The alum aids in preventing the whitewash from rubbing off.

Pit for Droppings Is Found an Improvement

The newest angle in poultry house construction, and one that is highly commendable, is the use of droppings pits instead of boards, according to a poultryman.

The use of the pit, sunk 2 or 2½ feet below the floor level makes it possible to lower the roosts to only 12 or 15 inches above the floor. Thus, the birds have only a short hop from the roost to the floor or vice versa, instead of the three-foot jump required with many of the old roosts. These long jumps were responsible for a good many injuries to feet and abdomens, especially with hens of the heavier breeds.

From the health standpoint, as the space beneath the roosts is screened in, the birds are kept farther from the droppings than where boards are used. For this reason, too, the pits need to be cleaned less often than droppings boards.

The depth of the pit depends on the location of the building and the type of soil. Some pits in dry locations are sunk as much as three feet.

New Uses for Whey

It used to be that skim milk was a by-product without much commercial value. But we were making use of 300,000,000 pounds of the dry skim-milk solids produced in the United States, and imported an additional 20,000,000 pounds. Dr. C. L. Roadhouse of the California College of Agriculture points out that we are at present making small use of the 15,000,000 pounds of whey left over from the manufacture of cheese and casein, and suggests that the dairy industry cash in on this by-product by drying it with skim milk or buttermilk, or by making whey powder separately. Large California creameries have already begun to install machinery for drying whey. Experimentally, the yellow coloring of whey (lactoflavin) appears to exert an important influence on the growth of young chickens. In California and New York state—Country Home Magazine.

Laying Eggs on Floor

When hens continue to lay quite a number of eggs on the floor of their laying quarters the first thing to look for is shortage of nests. If there is one nest for every four or five hens, then perhaps the trouble can be corrected somewhat by darkening the nests, either by making the nests deeper or by hanging some feed bags about 18 inches in front of them. If the birds still refuse to use the nests, try putting the nests on the floor until the pullets get accustomed to using them.

Grass Protects Dams

North Dakota farmers have a simple, inexpensive method of protecting earthen dams—built for soil and water conservation—from erosion, according to the report of the soil conservation service. Where rock or other material is not available for riprapping, they plant prairie cord, or "well diggers" grass, on the dam and spillway. The grass grows profusely wherever there is abundant moisture and provides excellent protection against washing.

Ever wonder if old bottle caps were good for anything except tossing in the ash can? John Hanley and wife of Miami have a hobby of making such things as flower stands for the porch, baskets and other handy things around the home by stringing bottle caps on old wire coat hangers. The model of the airplane shown here took 2,200 caps.

Bellflower Has Several Names
The tall bellflower, related to the bluebell of Scotland, has several other names, including Canterbury bells and bluebell. It is widely distributed, being found as far north as Ontario and south to Florida. Related species, such as the bluebell of Scotland, are found in Europe. Plants of the bluebell family are unimportant for medicinal uses or other commercial purposes, although they did find some uses for them in the old days. Alfred Lord Tennyson once wrote that bluebell juice (from the stems and roots) was a good remedy for snake bites, a remedy that the modern doctor hardly would use. The juice from the roots also has been used as a substitute for starch, and in the days when stiff ruffs were worn bluebell juice was in much demand for starching purposes. Since the juice is somewhat resinous it was used as book-binders' gum in the early days. For the same reason it was considered excellent for attaching feathers to arrows that English archers shot with their long bows.

OLD ROAD, STEEPED IN CRIME LEGENDS, WILL BE RESTORED

Natchez Trace, Gory Trail of Robbers, to Become Modern Highway.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Along a half-forgotten 550-mile route that winds its sinuous way from Nashville to dreamy old Natchez, clanking road-building machines are digging up the soft earth as the $20,000,000 job of restoring the historic old Natchez Trace and making it a modern automobile highway goes forward.

"But," says Robert Talley in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "they are digging up more than just the earth itself—they are digging up memories of 100 years ago when the old Natchez Trace was the happy hunting ground for gangs of blood-thirsty land pirates who could slit a throat with as little compunction as their exemplars who sailed the Spanish Main."

When the Natchez Trace National parkway is completed by the federal and state governments a few years hence, the autos of tourists will glide smoothly along a broad ribbon of concrete that will follow the route of historic Wilderness road that is steeped with the legends and the romance of the old South.

Robber Bands Thrive.
In earlier days Indians battled white pioneers there and in its dark wooded stretches robber bands set upon flatboat traders returning overland from New Orleans and robbed them of their gold.

As the steamboat had not yet been born, it was the only return route for traders who drifted their flatboats down the Mississippi river to New Orleans where they disposed of their wares and these returning merchants offered rich pickings for the land pirates who hid in its lonely stretches.

Earliest of the unsavory lot were: Micajah Harp, known as Big Harp, and his brother, Wiley Harp, called Little Harp, cut-throats whose reputation for ferocious torture of their luckless victims never has been equalled.

Tradition has it that the two brothers were insane, and their actions certainly have all the earmarks of those of madmen.

A little later another notorious land pirate appeared on the Trace in the person of Joseph Thompson Hare, a member of a good New York family, a gentleman dandy who made a striking figure in his crimson silk coat, knee breeches, and silver buckled shoes.

Levied on Travelers.
Hare contrasted sharply with the evil looking Harps. He went south by boat and took up thievery in New Orleans. There he organized a gang of robbers and traveled north on the Trace to levy on luckless travelers returning north.

A little later, nervous wayfarers along the Trace trembled at the name of Big Sam Mason, chief of a gang which included his three sons. Big Sam took up where dapper Joe Hare and his bloodthirsty gang left off. Previously a Mississippi river pirate whose band had boarded and scuttled flatboats and slain their crews, Mason had turned to the richer pickings along this wilderness highway.

His holdups almost always ended in the violent deaths of his victims. Of all the bloodstained criminals who roamed the Natchez Trace, there was none more colorful than John A. Murrell, horse thief, slave stealer, pirate, a Napoleon of outlaws who dreamed of a robber empire with himself on its throne.

Murrell was a man of remarkable attainments who could—and often did—cover up his tracks by posing as a traveling preacher.

Japanese Religious Sect Aids Souls of Drowned

VANCOUVER.—Onlookers at the waterfront watched curiously an age-old Japanese ceremony, when 250 members of the Vancouver section of the Nishiren-Shu religion prayed for the souls of every Vancouver man who had lost his life at sea, or in a lake or river, during the previous year.

The members of the sect, which conducts this picturesque ceremony annually, declare they hold to the original Buddhist belief.

"We do not pray for the Japanese alone," an interpreter said. "We pray for every Oriental and every white man who has been drowned. We watch the newspapers throughout the year and collect the names. Then we pray for their souls."

Dressed in his most important robes and thumping an oaken drum with a fan-shaped, hollow object, Reverend Y. Arakawa chanted the ceremony.

The names of all those drowned were written on papers or sticks. Then these were cast into the water, for the double purpose of assuring the drowned that their souls were being taken care of, and of bringing their names to the attention of the Nishiren-Shu God.

Clothes for College Life No Longer Random Choice

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

TO GO to school with a haphazard, gathered-together-at-random wardrobe—well, it's just not being done these days. So thoroughly is the go-to-school wardrobe theme being analyzed in these modern times, leading stores have called college students into consultation and after weeks of discussion and consideration of collegiate needs, have established bureaus to which mothers and daughters are invited to come and plan with experts, wise in college lore, who know exactly what's what to wear on campus, at gridiron games, in classroom, going about town or for dance or during study hours in the seclusion of one's dormitory.

In laying the foundation for a well-equipped wardrobe one of the first essentials is a good sturdy topcoat that will weather the elements and come out none the worse for wear. It must have "style" aplenty, and if it is tailored to a nicety of hand, some brown and white tweed, as pictured to the left, it will meet the demands for a coat that will look well over any sports or tailored clothes. In this instance, stitched well seams down the back give an effect of pleats that achieve ample flare without extreme fullness.

The pleated skirt with a sweater top is a schoolgirl classic and should have a place in every collegiate wardrobe. The girl seated in the group is wearing a 1938 version in that it is topped with a sweater-bolero two-piece. The knitted bolero is making a big hit this season. The skirt here pictured is pleated of heavy navy silk crepe, but those of sheer wool are equally as chic, and as for the plaid skirt with sweater it ranks "tops" in fashion. The bolero here shown and the pull-on cap are of nubby handknit navy blue wool.

The coat and sweater-bolero-pleated-skirt costume, as pictured,

Leather Glorifies Some Dull Gowns

Tough as leather! Yes, but don't forget how beautiful that leather becomes and how important a part it plays in the salons of haute couture. A scrap of leather is the magic material which converts many a dull dress into a glamorous gown, and leather accessories make many a suit look more than its material value.

A basketball bag is the latest of these accessories. Robert Piquet introduced it to the fashion world as an amusingly practical purse to complete any sports costume. The bag looks for all the world like an undersized basketball of regulation brown hide. But its top half unsnaps and lifts off to disclose a deluxe interior complete with a comb case, powder puff and all the rest. The ball-bag is carried in a string mesh flit whose drawstrings are easy to clench.

Fabrics Feature Surface Interest

Fall fabrics for 1938 have their fashion news on top. Scores of them are marked by some kind of surface interest.

Many of the new coat wools, launched by one of the country's leading quality designers, have a "smooth-rough" boucle weave—a novel treatment of an old idea. Its effect is both luxurious and smart.

Wind-Mill Hats

Wind-mill hats featured in four directions were featured in Paris collections for daytime. Some chinted monkey fur hats for evening were noted. High buttoned boots of black and colored kid were a new footwear shown for day or evening.

have to do with the sporty practical side of the question, but how about a flattering gown to wear to the prom? Longing for something that has a new "something different" look? Here it is—the cunning velvet gown shown to the right. It has many interesting style-important highspots: outstanding among which is that it adopts the bi-color treatment. Carried out in teal blue with deep plum (very smart new color combination) this quaint full-skirted model is lovely. The jacket that stresses the narrowed-in waistline gives this dress its final touch of high-style. The bodice top underneath is formally low-cut.

The three models shown make a good start in assembling a well-equipped wardrobe, but there are other needs to be considered. Such as the smart afternoon gown which is a necessary luxury with every young woman who keeps up social activities. The fashion-wise girls are asking for dresses that glitter with nailheads. Some of them are studied all over with nailheads, yet when all is said and done the effect is not bizarre. Then there are the new cloque fabrics, so ultra smart in Paris. They are made simply so as to serve as a foundation dress with the grand costume jewelry we are wearing this season.

Paris? 'Tis a magic word. Anything in plaid, just so it's plaid—a pleated skirt, a gorgeous plaid wool spectator sports coat to wear to the games, a shirtmaker dress of plaid, a plaid blouse and so on.

Check With Plain

It's fashionable to use a plain and a patterned wool together for the fall costume. The idea works out attractively in this youthful model. The check in two colors is used for the bodice over which a bolero of the plain is worn that has a binding of bias check to unify the costume. The "doll hat" sailor is good style.

WEAK EGG SHELLS LACK VITAMIN D

Requirements of Birds Are Of Great Importance.

By Prof. C. S. Platt, Associate Poultry
Husbandman, Rutgers University,
WNU Service.

A lack of sufficient vitamin D in rations for laying flocks can be determined far more readily by egg shell quality than in the number of eggs produced. Egg shells become weak before production is in any way impaired when vitamin D is deficient. With an adequate supply of the vitamin, the number of cracked and weak-shelled eggs produced in a day should not exceed 3 per cent. This means that with a collection of 400 eggs daily, there should not be more than about one dozen cracked or weak-shelled eggs. If the number exceeds this, the indications are that the vitamin D requirements of the birds are not being properly met.

To correct this condition, the cod liver oil content of the ration should be increased. Normally, the use of 2 per cent of a high grade, natural cod liver oil in the mash will provide a sufficient amount of the vitamin for good results. If this amount is being used and the number of cracked eggs still exceeds 3 per cent, it is possible that the quality of the oil is not up to standard.

Egg production alone is not a very good criterion of the needs of the birds for vitamin D, because under most conditions the birds obtain a sufficient amount through the ordinary open windows of a poultry house to meet their requirements for egg production.

Most Fires on Farms From Common Causes

Farm fires in the United States take about 3,500 lives and destroy $100,000,000 worth of property each year, says a recent United States department of agriculture publication, "Fires on Farms."

Eighty-five per cent of this loss is from such commonplace causes as defective chimneys and flues; sparks on combustible roofs; lightning; spontaneous combustion; careless use of matches, smoking; careless use of gasoline and kerosene; defective and improperly installed stoves and furnaces; faulty wiring; and misuse of electric appliances.

Four simple precautions that the author, Harry E. Roethe, of the bureau of chemistry and soils, gives to reduce needless waste caused by farm fires are: Use fire-resistant roofing, dispose of waste and rubbish, never use gasoline or kerosene to start or revive a fire, and, guard against overheating of stoves and furnaces and clean smoke pipes at least once a year. He also suggests that major buildings be equipped with lightning rods.

In addition to removing the fire hazards, Roethe suggests preparations to fight a fire should one occur, that is, fire-fighting equipment on every farm, kept in a handy place ready for instant use.

Many Eggs Do Not Hatch

About 300,000,000 egg eggs a year, which would be enough to feed thousands of persons, are wasted every year because they will not hatch. Most of these can be saved in edible condition, according to the claims, by a device recently patented which will detect whether an incubated egg will produce a chicken or not before it has a chance to spoil. It is claimed that from 15 to 20 per cent of all the eggs set annually in the United States never hatch.

Breezy Farm Briefs

Thousands of cattle die of licking fresh paint off farm buildings every year.

Vermont is first in New York second in maple syrup and maple sugar production.

Quantities of grain waste, from the whisky and alcohol industries, are sold as feed for stock.

Scottish shepherds say that sheep respond to a dark colored collie dog better than to a white collie.

The type of pasture required for turkeys does not differ greatly from that required by dairy cows.

Waste products of cocoa and cocoa butter factories are being used in the Netherlands in making fertilizer.

The original training school of the horse was in the Orient.

So-called sheep ticks are really flies and not ticks at all.

Mowing the pasture when there is an appreciable amount of uncut grass or weeds ungrazed is good farm practice.

Experiments have shown that hay silage can be substituted for either corn silage or hay without noticeably affecting milk production.

WIVES ON MARKET AT $25 PER COPY UNDER U. S. FLAG

Mohammedans of Sulu and Mindanao Decline to Give Up Polygamy.

MANILA.—Polygamy still thrives under the American flag.

Among Malayan Mohammedans of Mindanao island and the Sulu archipelago, a man's importance once was measured largely by the number of his wives. This idea is on the decline now, but it probably will be decades before polygamy is uncommon in Sulu. Some, wishing to be No. 1 wives with others as comparative servants, often ask their husbands to marry again. Frequently each wife lives in a separate house. The example still is set by the royal family, since Mohammed Pinal Abireen II, sultan of Sulu, and Datu Tahlil, crown prince of Sulu, 11 years ago a rebel against the Philippine government, each had four wives. Strangely enough, it is not one of the sultan's wives who is sultana of Sulu, but Tarhata Kiram, favorite niece and adopted daughter of the late Sultan Jamalul Kiram, former co-ed of the University of Illinois and fourth wife of Tahlil.

Studied at Illinois.
Princess Tarhata Kiram entered the University of Illinois in 1919, studied language, social economy, and woman suffrage, bobbed her hair, rolled her stockings, wore short skirts, and powdered her nose as other co-eds did.

The princess left the university in 1924 and two years later she astonished her American friends by marrying into Tahlil's harem as No. 4.

The princess soon reverted to ancestral custom, blackened her teeth with betel nut, and sided with her husband in his daring moves. When he protested against land taxes and barricaded himself and 200 followers in a Moro fort, while the Philippine constabulary surrounded it, she stayed with him; indeed she was pictured as the brains of the rebellion.

For several days Tahlil's men and the constabulary faced each other without hostilities. The authorities dreaded to charge, fearing that, if the princess were slain, the island people would revolt. Princess Kiram soon removed this worry herself. On January 27, 1927, she disappeared from the fort. On the next day the battle opened and 35 of the late's men were killed. He escaped.

As Low as $25.
The princess was captured on February 4. A few days later the Datu Tahlil was arrested. Both he and his princess were charged with rebellion. He was convicted in March and sentenced to 10 years in prison. She escaped punishment.

Little more was heard of the princess from then until March, 1937, when she was proclaimed sultana by the new sultan, Pinal Abireen II, in place of one of his own wives, who were commoners.

In a few communities where important men have a monopoly on the wives, marriage is a burdensome expense for poor men. In other places a wife can be obtained for dowry as low as $25. Western methods of courtship are gradually becoming blended with the ancient system of marriages by family arrangement.

One-Legged Ohioan Plays Fast Tennis on Crutch

CLEVELAND.—William Hancock, one-legged athlete, is creating a sensation on Cleveland tennis courts by playing an excellent game on a crutch.

Hancock lost his left leg 22 years ago—when he was four—in a street accident. Seven years ago he started playing tennis. Soon he developed what his instructors term an exceptional game. His forehand, backhand, and underhand are said to be good enough to beat many two-legged tennis players.

When anyone expresses astonishment at his agility, Hancock laughs. "It's second nature with me now," he explains; "every time I get through with my service my hand just naturally slides down to get hold of the crutch, and I'm off as fast as the next man—or even faster."

According to Hancock, his only difficulty is an occasional broken crutch—when the game gets close—or when he is playing a good opponent.

Hot-to-Handle Prisoner Sets Two Jails on Fire

BAY CITY, MICH.—Police wish they never had arrested Tom Massaro on a charge of disorderly conduct. In three weeks of custody Massaro:

Tore down the steam and water pipes in the city jail and was transferred to the county jail.
Set the county jail afire and was returned to the city jail because sheriff's deputies found him too hot to handle.

Started three fires in the city jail and was sent to the county infirmary.

Repeatedly squirmed out of a straitjacket.

Freed himself from his bonds of 100 feet of rope, slipped the keys from the pocket of a sleeping, exhausted guard and escaped from the infirmary.

Led an unsuccessful break of 13 prisoners from the county jail by sawing the bars to the bullpen.

DIAGNOSIS MISSED; DOCTOR ENDS LIFE

Physician Leaves Notes Giving
Reason for Suicide.

SAN RAFAEL, CALIF.—A small-town doctor, who left notes expressing horror at an incorrect diagnosis he had made for a dying patient, told in a 3,000-word journal of how he turned from life, with its bitter endurances, to death, which he hailed as "an old friend."

The body of Dr. Joseph M. Swindt, thirty-two, Chino and Pomona, Calif., physician and surgeon, was found in an inn at Olema, on the Marin county coast. Coroner J. Ray Keaton said Dr. Swindt, who had been dead three days, had died from poison, leaving a written record of his feelings as death approached.

"It is so peaceful and calm and so different from the mad chaos that I have left behind me," Dr. Swindt wrote.

"B— (a patient) desperately ill, and I almost leaving him until with his very last dying words, calling me back to his side, bringing the terrible realization that I have utterly and completely missed the diagnosis. . . . All these are fearful monuments to my horrible ineptness as a practitioner."

The doctor's journal, released by the coroner, explained: "This is no rash act done on the spur of the moment, but a cool, collected deed resulting from months of thought."

On a separate sheet of paper he left a list of 20 names, headed by those of his widow Janette and two young sons, whom he directed to read his thesis on death.

"All those who argue against suicide," wrote Dr. Swindt, "are for continuing the practice of mayhem and murder among my trusting patients in Chino. Even my surgery is slipping. . . . Of course, I am wrecking the lives of my wife and two children, but are these lives more sacred than the lives of the countless on whom I did not even make the correct diagnosis?"

"No! Surely, there can be no good reason for my going on and maiming honest people just to eke out a living."

Dr. Swindt's opinion of his own professional abilities was disputed by a prominent San Francisco surgeon with whom Dr. Swindt worked at San Francisco hospital during his four years of training there. This surgeon remembered the youthful physician as "capable, high-minded, kind, gentle."

University Students Are Revenge on Cafe Owner

LILLE, FRANCE.—University students of this city have just taken a costly vengeance on a Lille cafe owner.

Two hundred of them staged a sit-down occupation of the entire cafe for more than 10 hours, while across the street more than 100 mobile guards and police waited in vain for a chance to eject them legally.

During recent university celebrations the cafe owner had called in the mobile guards to eject noisy students "who are disturbing my regular customers."

Three days later, shortly after two o'clock 200 students in small groups walked quietly into the cafe and sat down at every empty table.

Each ordered a small glass of beer. It took ten hours to drink that one glass of beer. But the students were calm, behaving quietly and making no disturbance.

The irate cafe owner's cash register for the afternoon showed total receipts of $20.

And Lille students threaten to take a similar vengeance if their celebrations are again interrupted by police.

Constable Sent to Jail In Third Degree Killing

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.—Former District Constable Neill of the St. Mary division of the Jamaica police force was sentenced to 10 years in prison for beating a prisoner to death with a heavy whip last spring. The former constable was convicted of manslaughter.

Judge Burrows, presiding, made strong comments against the "third-degree" practice of beating prisoners in efforts to get confessions. He said he had never listened to a more terrible case than this.

Strength Proves Costly

Lake Zurich Approves Bond Issue for Hall

A $14,000 bond issue to be used in the construction of a village hall was approved by Lake Zurich in a special election Monday. If there are no delays, work on the building, which is expected to cost about $25,000, will probably start some time before Christmas. The hall will be a two-story structure, with fire trucks, a council room and jail on the first floor, and a meeting hall on the second floor. It will occupy the site of the old village hall.

AMUSEMENTS

Camera! (But No Lights!)

By appearing on the screen and in the world at the same time, one young lady, becomes an easy winner of the youngest star honors.

Her debut in "The Birth of a Baby" at the Gateway Theatre, Kenosha, earthily and cinematically simultaneously, offered technical problems of great difficulty.

In the first place, the cameramen and the picture weren't as important as the young lady's safe entrance into the world. So cameras had to be set at many different angles to avoid the chance of the doctor or nurse cutting off the dramatic action.

Now, the mere setting up of cameras at different angles isn't hard if everything can be prearranged with stand-ins. But there could be no stand-in for an unborn baby.

The cameramen had to call on all the knowledge years of experience had given them to figure out their angles in advance. There could be no retakes. They stood or fell by that one scene.

If they hadn't gotten it, and perfectly, there could have been no picture. And just to make it harder the only lights the cameramen were allowed were those in the room at the time. No hot arcs, no spots, no reflectors, just ordinary room light.

And, of course, the men and their cameras were separated from the scene they were shooting by glass partitions, so that no infection could approach mother or child.

Pikeville Woman Finds 14½-lb. Mushroom

Interesting series of Articles Is Announced

Those seeking a deeper understanding of the significance of this great movement, founded by the Nazarene, will find these articles illuminating and inspiring. The struggles, persecutions and triumphs of almost 2,000 years are graphically told, and included are many brief biographies of leaders in their relation to world events.

Among the 56 titles of the articles are the following: "Christianity—Chain of the Ages," "Christianity—Its Beginnings," "Mystery Religions," "Missionary Beginnings," "Persecution of the Early Church," "End of the Roman Empire," "Christianity Comes to Britain," and "After a Thousand Years." Mrs. F. D. Powles is the local distributor for these articles.

"Topsy" Tree Grows Peaches
A peach tree that, like Topsy, "just grewed," in the yard of J. V. Seymour, Lake Geneva, produced a hundred large free-stone peaches this fall. The seedling tree weathered the onslaughts of the lawnmower and frequent trimmings during the past 10 years to reward its owner with the only recorded crop of peaches in Lake Geneva.

Otter Held Sacred Animal
Russians, Spaniards and Englishmen sailed round the world in tiny ships hunting the sea otter. They were so successful that they practically exterminated the animal. It was known in Biblical times and in old Sanskrit was called udra. The mid-European countries called it uder, odder and finally otter. The ancient Persians held it sacred. The man who killed an otter had to kill 10,000 frogs or 10,000 snakes in ancient Persia. That was because the otter killed frogs and snakes with which the land was overrun.

Monkey Makes Croaking Sound
The white-tailed Geuriza of Africa, known as the Thumbers monkey, at certain hours, usually at dawn, makes a croaking sound, passing it on from group to group for long distances, a sound like the cock's crow in other parts of the world.
